No	Waypoint	Question	Answer	Pts
1	N 51 03.685 W 01 18.602	How far is it to London? Add the Southampton digits together to get B Subtract Salisbury from Portsmouth to get H		1
2	N 51 03.841 W 01 19.185	What was the 90 th feast celebrated with?		1
3	N 51 03.591 W 01 18.968	There is a Scilly island next to a holy weather forecaster here. Give me the name of both. The second digit of the forecaster's house number is F		2
4	N 51 03.482 W 01 18.507	Add the number of black bosses and the number of windows (on the same wall). This is the closest to the finishing post, probably best to do it last.		2
5	N 51 03.822 W 01 18.830	Presumably he left this civic position to become a detective in Oxford (what was his civic position).		1
6	N 51 03.690 W 01 18.632	My GPS was giving trouble here. Fortunately the position is written down. What is it? To prove you didn't guess, I'll need the first three digits of height too, the second of which is D.		1
7	N 51 03.417 W 01 18.667	There are two walking trails sign posted around here, what are they?		2

10	N 51 03.684 W 01 18.768	The waypoint is actually outside the building from question 9 but the answer is inside. In fact if you go in (donating £3.50) and get as close as possible to the waypoint, you won't be far away. Fred Nott died in 1841, but why did I chose his memorial stone?	3
11	N 51 03.857 W 01 18.880	When was the first Peterhouse built? The second digit is C	1

16	N 51 03.494 W 01 18.895	I came here for some hymns once, between which two years?	1

20	N 51 03.464 W 01 18.991	What is the apparent obvious historical error?	1
21	?	This is so flippin' obvious, you tell me the OS grid reference of Alfred the Great - within 50 metres of the reading I got is OK. While you're at it, there are two conflicting dates for his death. What are they? The century digit of the earlier one is G	3
22	N 51 03.546 W 01 18.939	It's all Greek to me. What are the letters?	1
23	N 51 03.499 W 01 18.716	What is a Simplex? As a clue, there are five Roman numbers on it. The top left one is J	1
